

PRACTICAL GUIDE · 7 PAGES

THE PROTOCOL

3-7-15

What to send on day 0, 3, 7 and 15 after a wine fair.

THE FOUR MOMENTS

A fair gives you cards. Four emails, decided before you fly out, turn them into orders.

DAY

0

Same day

From the hotel, before the flight home. You send what you promised at the stand and nothing else.

3

Back at his desk

One idea for his list, in the words he used. One request only.

7

A new angle

A different reason to write. A producer like you in his market, a number he can use.

15

The clean exit

You give him permission to close the file. It is the email that brings me the most replies.

WHAT YOU SEND AND WHAT YOU ASK

One request per email. Two requests in one email become none.

DAY	WHAT YOU SEND	WHAT YOU ASK
0	What you promised at the stand	Nothing. You confirm it arrived
3	One idea for his list	A yes or a no
7	A producer like you in his market	Who else decides
15	The clean exit	A close or a date

The importer walks back to his desk with 80 emails waiting. Yours lands the following Tuesday, after he has already answered three other producers.

DOMINGO MIGUEL · 28 YEARS SELLING ON MY OWN IN 40 COUNTRIES

That is why day 0 goes out from the hotel.

THE DAY 3 EMAIL

Subject: "his exact words, in quotes"

Hi {Name},

We met on Thursday at {Fair}. One thing you said stayed with me: "{what he said}".

I thought about it. If {his situation}, I would start with {one concrete action}. The {document} I promised you is below.

Does that match how you see it?

{Signature}

Plain text. No logo, no four-image signature, no 12 MB catalogue attached.

BEFORE YOU FILE THE CARDS

Print this page or copy it into your CRM.

☐ A line he said, written on the back, not your product

☐ The name of whoever else decides

☐ The month he buys, not the day you walked past

☐ What you promised to send, in his own words

☐ Day 3, day 7 and day 15 in the calendar

☐ One email, one request

☐ Day 0 leaves from the hotel, not from your office on Monday

IF YOU WANT THIS TO KEEP RUNNING

The protocol works by hand. The hard part is remembering day 7 when the week fills up.

Agent DM+ keeps the cadence: it researches the company, writes to your rules and shows you every message before it goes. You approve, it sends.
